Parking Safely

I mentioned last week about parking with consideration toward our neighbours but I have had an even more worrying trend brought to my attention. Parking on the grass verges recklessly puts our children at risk of being knocked over. Why not leave a little extra time, park farther away and walk to the gates. Its safer for our children and healthier.

Social media

I have dealt with two instances just this morning of children using social media apps on their phone. Although these instances happened out of school time, the consequences spill out into the school day and their interaction with friends. The apps concerned were lively.com and musical.ly and live.ly. You should be 17 to use both of these apps. I think primary children are just not mature enough yet to understand the consequences of some of the things they message to us. Then find themselves very upset when people have been nasty to them. Things are often messaged that they wouldn't dream of saying to someone's face. Please keep on eye on the messages your child is sending or receiving.

Crisis at Christmas

Matthew Green, (father of Daniel and Ben in Y2 and Y4) is the director of Skylight which is part of the Crisis at Christmas Charity, came to talk to the children in assembly this morning about the charity. We are lending them our minibuses again this year for Christmas Day. You may like to support by donating other items. See separate leaflet to see what we are collecting.

A superb performance by our year 6 children of Julius Caesar at Birmingham Mac theatre
